

Rapport de repérage des médias sociaux : midi 4 octobre à midi 6 octobre, 2019

Social Media Monitoring Report: noon October 4 to noon October 6, 2019

Observations principales / Key observations

- Users reacted to a CTV news article about non-citizens on the NROE (8K shares, and an equivalent French article published by TVA with 2K shares); many are “concerned” or “disgusted” that EC does not require proof of citizenship at the polls
- Following news of convicted murderer Luka Rocco Magnotta receiving a VIC, users criticized VIC accuracy, with one Senator writing “this travesty illustrates exactly why Elections Canada’s error-riddled “voter information cards” should never be allowed to be used as ID”
- Many users shared photos and comments on lawn signs, including high-engagement posts about satirical signs, and concern about signs defaced with swastikas
- Many posted about campus service points; most posts simply announced their availability and encouraged voters to use them

Volume of posts mentioning Elections Canada or variants, by day

Volume – Includes mentions of CEO, CEA, and variants, in English and French, on Twitter, Reddit, Tumblr, blogs, forums, YouTube comments

Sujets principaux / Key topics¹

- ↻ Concerns about voter ID requirements, vouching and non-citizens on the NROE
- → Users react to receiving VICs, some comment on a convicted murderer receiving a VIC
- → Concerns over vandalized, stolen and parody election signs

Éléments sous observation / On the radar

- Aside from long line-ups at Trent University, users do not report problems with on-campus voting: A get-out-the-vote organization called “Future Majority” (futuremajority.ca) tweeted about “long wait times” at an on-campus polling location at Trent University, with “only 4 people processed at a time.” The organization tagged EC’s Twitter account to ask if there were “any way to send more poll staff in?” The tweet received two engagements. This was the only social media post to report long lines on October 5.
- Concerns about accessibility in GE43: One user who describes themselves as being unable to leave their home, criticized EC for not having accessible voting options and hoped that EC restores the practice of sending personnel to the homes of voters with mobility issues; the user described the current voting options as “not fair” and as “infringing” on their right to vote. The post received 14 engagements on Facebook.
- High-engagement tweet claimed Canada uses machine-voting: The user (8.7K followers) urged others to “make a list of people [they] know” when voting and to “make sure the machine you vote on is recording what you press,” adding that “we cannot trust Elections Canada.” In another tweet the user emphasized the need for scrutineers and stated that “EC has hired lots of immigrants” to work at the polls. The user’s tweets received 163 engagements, with some users replying that, in fact, Canada uses paper ballots.
- Twitter user expressed dismay at the use of pencils in GE43: The user stated “are we going to be voting using a pencil again?” adding “you’ve got to be kidding me!” and suggested that the use of pencils may lead to election fraud. In another tweet the user tagged @SharpieCanada and urged others to “get [theirs] before [they] vote” and in a third tweet the user announced that they “REFUSE” to vote using a pencil in GE43. The tweets received 44 engagements, with one user suggesting EC start using “black pen[s]” to avoid the election being “rigged.”
- Organization that “upholds traditional Canadian values” criticized use of a mosque as a polling location: Canada Matters (18K likes) posted a photo of a VIC with a mosque listed as the polling location and added that the LPC has the “Muslim voting block locked up.” The post claimed that EC’s “pro-Liberal bias” made it “no surprise” the agency chose a mosque as a polling location. The Facebook post received 235 engagements, with some users accusing EC of “rigging” GE43 in favour of the LPC.
- Concerns over marking special ballots for Maxime Bernier running in Beauce, QC: Two low-engagement tweets raised concerns about how EC would distinguish between special ballots cast for PPC candidate Maxime Bernier and Rhinoceros Party candidate Maxime Bernier. One user asked whether the candidate's party needs to be written on the ballot, to which another responded by claiming that an EC representative had told them "not [to] write [the] party."

¹ Most prominent EC-related stories over the report’s time period; arrows indicate the intensity of the interest relative to last week: ↑ = increased interest → = continued interest ↓ = decreased interest ↻ = revived topic NEW = new topic

- Rhinoceros Party claimed to have set record for "most refused candidates" in an election: A press release posted on the party's website noted that their efforts to have the "Qu'Appelle 10" candidates added to the ballot in Regina-Qu'Appelle had fallen short, but that the party was responsible for setting a new record for "the most candidates ever prohibited from standing for election." The press release was also shared on Reddit where it received seven engagements.
- Francophone users reacted to La Presse article about EC workers greeting voters with "bonjour-hello": The article noted that EC is not the sole federal agency that applies this policy. Some Facebook users welcomed the directive as beneficial to francophone communities outside Quebec, while others asked whether it was being applied throughout Canada. A few users also expressed concern about being welcomed with English in Quebec, with one Facebook user claiming that French speakers will be negatively affected by this policy. The article garnered 541 engagements.
- Calls to report rumours about LPC leader Justin Trudeau to EC: Many Twitter users reacted to a Post Millennial article about the end of the LPC leader's tenure as a teacher at West Point Grey Academy, with one high-engagement tweet (628 engagements) claiming that LPC leader Trudeau had improper relations with an underage student during his tenure. Other users denounced the Post Millennial's speculation and the allegation made in the high-engagement tweet as "lies," with a handful of users claiming to have "reported [the lies] to EC"; one user claiming to have reported the "lie" to EC received 132 engagements.

Sujets principaux – en profondeur / Key topics – in depth

⤷ Concerns about voter ID requirements, vouching and non-citizens on the NROE

Articles les plus partagés; nombre de partages / Most-shared articles; number of shares

- Many people who are not Canadian citizens are on voter list, CTV News Atlantic, October 5, 8.2K shares
- Il reçoit une carte d'électeur, même s'il n'a pas le droit de vote, TVA Nouvelles, October 2, 2.1K shares
- Edmonton couple concerned after wrongly receiving federal election voter cards, Global News, October 5, 385 shares

Fait saillants sur les médias sociaux / Social media highlights

Recent CTV Atlantic News and Global News coverage of non-citizens on the NROE, some of whom report receiving VICs, sparked reactions across social media platforms. Many users ridiculed EC's "absurd" "honor system" and "expectation" that non-citizens will come forward and ask to be taken off from the NROE. On Facebook, users who engaged with a Global News video about two non-citizens in Edmonton receiving VICs noted that they had never been asked to prove citizenship at the polls and some wondered how many "illegals" would vote due to vouching. One user also claimed that EC does not train polling staff properly when it comes to ID requirements at the polls. Users who engaged with CTV Atlantic News' coverage on the topic criticized EC for sending out VICs to non-citizens, and a handful of users noted issues with spelling on their VICs; one user suggested EC "cancel" all VICs sent out to ensure only error-free VICs are used in GE43. One user also claimed that they had not received their VIC due to the fact they "support Andrew Scheer," adding that they were sure they would have received their VIC had they been an LPC supporter.

On Twitter, users speculated about whether non-citizens ending up on the NROE is a "liberal fix" with one user stating that the LPC is "doing everything in [its] power to let dogs, cats, [and] illegals" vote and another advocating for "tough" scrutineers at the polls. Some users found it concerning or "disgust[ing]" that there is no requirement to prove citizenship at the polls and speculated that "steady streams of foreigners" would vote for the LPC. A handful of users called for EC to be "investigated" for "influencing" GE43, with one user inviting others to join in on a "class action lawsuit" against EC for not "maintain[ing] an ethical electoral process." One user also questioned why EC offers the option of having an "interpreter" since, according to the user, being a citizen requires fluency in at least one of the two official languages.

Reddit users speculated over how non-citizens could end up on the NROE, with one of the most liked comments offering a simple explanation – that non-citizens, or those doing their taxes, marked the citizenship box without paying attention. Another user, noting that 103,000 made up "only 0.4%" of the electorate in GE42, suggested that the issue was being blown out of proportion.

Publications reliées au sujet / Related posts
Engagement	Followers, platform	Account	Post	Date
1,125	324K, Facebook	Global News Edmonton	An Edmonton couple is concerned after getting election voter cards in the mail — but the problem is, they are not Canadian citizens and shouldn't have received them. And as Chris Chacon explains, this isn't the first time it has happened either.	Oct. 4
1,125	324K, Facebook	Global News Edmonton	Facebook user 1 For pity's sake.... I reported this to the news stations last federal election and was told "it's not a story".... My husband at the time was not a citizen and received a card, was ALSO on the list at the voting station... but he did the right thing and did not participate. I suspect there are many who do not have the same integrity. Facebook user 2 Last federal election, I didn't provide proper ID. I didn't give anything with my address on it and I was still able to vote (I was curious to see if the worker knew what to do when presented with photo ID and no address). Elections Canada isn't training their election workers either. Facebook user 3 When I was getting registrations for voters it asked specifically if you were a citizen. Whomever did the census (usually someone trustworthy and local) probably just assumed the persons were citizens and never actually asked. Honest mistake....no vote swaying intended. Facebook user 4 I love how they say “prove your identity and address”. You can have someone vouch for you! I know people who have already voted and no ID was requested, just the voting card. Such a joke!!! Facebook user 5 Registered and recieved no registration card in the mail. Must be because I support Andrew Scheer if it was Justin Trudeau I am sure it would of came.	Oct. 4

812	101K, Facebook	CTV Atlantic News	It is illegal for anyone who isn't a Canadian citizen to vote in the federal election, but, Elections Canada has still registered many non-Canadians to vote in the upcoming election and says it takes data from multiple sources to compile this list. Sample replies Facebook user 1 Last election they asked my 9 yo who answered the door while I was busy for all the info on adults in the house, and then registered us based on that, they never thought to ask her if we were all citizens! (11 engagements) Facebook user 2 I was disappointed that I was listed on the registration card under my old name. What is the point of checking that box on the income tax return, allowing CRA to share your information with Elections Canada, if they don't bother to do it? I had to make a special trip to the Elections office with a stack of paperwork to straighten it out. (19 engagements) Facebook user 3 They need cancel these cards send out new ones to qualifying Canadians. There is no way they will go through them all make sure there all legal votes. This is how he got in last time. (8 engagements) Facebook user 4 So track them if they vote illegally and either a stiff fine or jail time, they would absolutely know they are not Canadian Citizens in the first place. No excuse for Elections Canada to send cards to non Canadians in the first place! Sloppy work from that organization if even 1 card was sent in error never mind 103,000 being sent out.	Oct. 5
336	16.6K, Twitter	Twitter user	Many people who are not Canadian citizens are on voter list Sample replies Twitter user 1 So they know but they expect people to take them self off the list??? Are you kidding me?? Where's the money Twitter user 2 THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING IN ELECTIONS CANADA PROCESS THAT REQUIRES PROOF OF CITIZENSHIP. There is also no way to find out and punish. That's an empty threat. Its disgusting. Twitter user 3 Canadians have to get tough scrutiners in every polling station. Canadians let's step up to the plate and volunteer to be scrutiners to make sure that there is no Trudeau corruption. This madness has to stop. We must keep Canada a free country.#TrudeauMustGo	Oct. 5
176	9K, Twitter	Twitter user	Elections Canada will have millions of people named Muhammad with a phone bill as their ID, who pop up to vote. And they won't argue. Sample reply Twitter user 1 We really should be our Canadian good natured selves and stand outside polling stations giving out ham sandwiches.	Oct. 5

139	551K, Reddit, r/Canada	Reddit user	Comments on thread sharing CTV News article Reddit user 1 In May of this year, Elections Canada said it would eliminate 103,000 people from the register because they are not Canadian citizens. How did so many non-citizens get included on the voters list? Reddit user 2 Most likely cause is having someone else doing their taxes and that person checks these boxes (without sparing a thought) on the first page of their tax return and nobody notices/fixes it: [x] I have Canadian citizenship [x] I authorize the CRA to give my name, address, DOB to Elections Canada to update the National Register of Electors. Reddit user 3 Stop it with your perfectly reasonable and simple explanation. Reddit user 4 To characterize this as "Many" is pushing it. In 2015, there were 25 million eligible voters in Canada. This represents an error of ~ 0.4% Reddit user 5 I'd be curious to see a breakdown by associated province. Is it proportional across Canada or does it fall into fairly weighted areas? Post-coffee edit: Fixed a typo first. Realizing that my wording is confusing. Proportional speaks to part one of my question while I mean, "Is there something akin to vote stuffing in particular areas or regions meant to assure certain wins?" in part two of the question. Reddit user 6 Hypothetically is she went and voted that year with the card...does elections Canada double check who voted and if they're a citizen? Are there any recorded cases of non-citizens being prosecuted for voting with a mistakenly sent voter card? As apparently this happens often enough.	Oct. 6
90	1.5K, Facebook	Facebook user	November 2018 but very pertinent "According to Elections Canada, about 207,000 voter information cards were sent out in the last election to people that were already dead. Another 57,500 went to people that were not citizens. And up to 2 million ex-pats can vote. The deck is amorally stacked in Trudeau's favour. We must unite and vote CPC! *Sharing November 13 2018 Toronto Sun article Thousands of Canadian voter cards sent to dead, non-citizens	Oct. 5
64	10K, Twitter	Twitter user	I was at Elections Canada They stated: Election run on "honor system" No filtering was done for citizenship eligibility A person in riding can "vouch" for voter #Elxn43 already has been and will continue to be most corrupt in history WAKE UP CANADA	Oct. 5
20	2.7K, Twitter	Twitter user	Would anyone like to join me in a class action law suit against @ElectionsCan_E / @ElectionsCan_F ?? They have 1 job: Maintain an ethical electoral process held to the highest standards. Willy-nilly voter cards had to come from somewhere. #Complicit.	Oct. 6

8	Fewer than 500, Twitter	Twitter user	It should be easy to automate removing these people from the list. If 'Are you a Canadian citizen = NO' then 'Eligible to vote = NO' DELETE user FROM TABLE Federal_Voter_Registry. Asking these people to call is absurd!	Oct. 6
8	9K, Twitter	Twitter user	Steady streams of foreigners will repeatedly vote, similar names, screeching "racist" if they're asked for clarification. They'll cower election officials. #LPC will do everything in their power to let dogs, cats, illegals and anyone under ten vote. #elxn43 #cndpoli	Oct. 5
7	Fewer than 500, Twitter	Twitter user	Is this true? 	Oct. 5
3	Fewer than 500, Twitter	Twitter user	Just wondering: Why does my 2019 Voter card say Accessibility: If you need a language... interpreter...call... You must be a citizen to vote, no? To be a citizen, you must speak English/French, right? Elections Canada does NOT demand citizenship ID. How many illegals will vote?	Oct. 5
2	1.3K, Twitter	Twitter user	Who is going to investigate @ElectionsCan_E for influencing an election? These rules make a mockery of Canadian Citizenship! There will be wholesale corruption and illegal voting in Canada in 2 weeks and Elections Canada doesn't care!!! #cndpoli #elxn43	Oct 4
1	700, Twitter	Twitter user	This is just not right. Only CANADIANS should be voting. Something needs to be changed. Maybe we need more responsible CANADIAN staff in elections Canada offices.	Oct. 6

NEW Users react to receiving VICs, some comment on a convicted murderer receiving a VIC
Articles les plus partagés; nombre de partages / Most-shared articles; number of shares

- Une carte d'électeur chez Luka Rocco Magnotta, TVA Nouvelles, October 5, 2.1K shares

Fait saillants sur les médias sociaux / Social media highlights

Many users reacted to media coverage of convicted murderer Luka Rocco Magnotta receiving a VIC at the address where he committed the murder for which he is incarcerated. Users who engaged with the article ridiculed how “imprecise” and “error-riddled” the NROE is, though one user noted that the errors in the NROE were due to “voter apathy more than anything else” since voters were not updating their information as frequently as they should. A handful of users also criticized the right of incarcerated people to vote.

Social media users continued noting that they had received VICs, with a handful of users noting problems. One claimed that they had received a VIC addressed to their deadname, and that when they went to an EC office to address the issue, EC had allowed them to “vote early for their troubles.” Two users noted that their names were either wrong or spelled wrong on their VICs, and one user claimed that their polling place was too far away; the user asked if EC would provide a “discount on gas” for those inconvenienced by the distance.

Publications reliées au sujet / Related posts

Engagement	Followers, platform	Account	Post	Date
1,683	1.1M, Facebook	TVA Nouvelles	«Le dépeceur» sur la liste électorale Sample replies Facebook user 1 J'ai reçu pas moins de 5 cartes électorales. Belle fraude en vue! Il appert raisonnable de douter de la légitimité de l'élection qui s'en vient. Facebook user 2 Nous avons reçu la carte de l'ancien propriétaire de notre maison...qui était déjà mort lorsque nous l'avons acheté il y a 10 ans. 😂😂😂 Pense pas qu'il aille voter	Oct. 5
1,683	1.1M, Facebook	TVA Nouvelles	Sample replies, continued from previous page Facebook user 3 Sincèrement, je comprends pas qu'un détenu aie le droit de vote. Je comprends qu'ils ont certain droit... mais le droit de vote je comprends pas pourquoi une personne qui manque de jugement au point d'être en prison aie suffisamment de jugement pour avoir le droit de voter. Facebook user 4 D'après ses réponses, Élections Canada n'a aucune responsabilité dans les erreurs, c'est le ou les citoyens qui ont mal fait la job...comme d'habitude il ne faut jamais accusé d'erreurs un ministère gouvernemental car il n'en font jamais... 🤔😂😂 Facebook user 5 Mon fils autiste severe avec deficiance a reçu sa carte... ils ont pourtant toutes les informations tant au gouvernement fédéral que provincial concernant les crédits pour personnes handicapées, aidant naturel, etc... Me semble de me voir l'amener au pool et dire au scrutateur que c'est une personne qui a besoin d'aide pour voter (j'ai été scrutatrice 2 fois, y'a des cas où on doit accepter une deuxieme personne avec le votant) et lui dire "coche ici mon grand"...	Oct. 5

815	14.4K, Twitter	Denise Batters , Senator	This travesty illustrates exactly why Elections Canada’s error-riddled “voter information cards” should never be allowed to be used as ID — and why @LindaFrum and I fought so hard in #SenCA against the Trudeau government’s disastrous Bill #C76 which allows this. Sample replies Twitter user 1 My father voted con all his life but since he died he has voted lib in every election. Twitter user 2 They are not used as id. They are used to show voters where the polling stations are. This is important, as conservatives use robocalls to direct voters away from polling stations. Twitter user 3 There need to be a national review of voter ID. Twitter user 4 I spoke to a senior today he told me his wife always voted, American citizenship not Canadian she has passed away Twitter user 5 Inky, arent sentenced inmates allowed to vote? Luka is scum, but he would get a card at last known address.	Oct. 5
191	22K, Twitter	Twitter user	Heh. "The federal electoral list is so imprecise that even the murderer Luka Rocco Magnotta received a voter card...at the address where he committed a sordid murder more than seven years ago" #cdnpoli Sample replies Twitter user 1 This is just another way the liberals are corrupting our country and frauding our elections! Twitter user 2 This is why elector cards are not identification ... or shouldn't be. Twitter user 3 Isn't the onus on the voter to make sure they're registered with current address? And you can update that info at the polling station. The accuracy of the list is down to voter apathy more than anything else.	Oct. 5
26	N/A, Facebook	Facebook user	I find it very odd that my voters card arrived AGAIN this time, with the wrong first, middle and last name. So I have no identification with the spelling of that first name, or middle, and I havent been Blair in almost 15 years. What the heck Elections Canada, where do you get this information? I thought I had this straightened out last election. Their solution when I called, was to bring in my voters card and explain to them my story and they will let me vote. REALLY? So i can walk in with a voters card, with all thre enames wrong, tell them "its me, honest" and they will let me vote? Any ideas? lol	Oct. 4

35	372K, Twitter	TVA Nouvelles	Une carte d'électeur chez «Le dépeceur» Luka Rocco Magnotta  Sample replies Twitter user 1 Aucun détenu ne devrait avoir le droit de vote. Ce sont les déchets de la société Twitter user 2 En tôle tu perd ton droit de vote ? Twitter user 3 Lorsque les gens sont à amener à la prison, il devrait avoir un bureau à la prison pour que les changements des prisonniers ce fait dans la premières semaines	Oct. 5
27	N/A, Facebook	Facebook user	So if elections Canada is always complaining that less than 50% of the people get out to vote why would they make you drive so far to the polling stations? So Grand Ave., East and Longwoods Road, Standeart drive area have to drive to Paincourt to vote???? Are they crazy? Giving a discount on gas perhaps? Do you know how many seniors or people live in that area that do not even drive? Cutting off your nose to spite your face does not make you pretty! Wake up Elections Canada-smell the coffee! Let's see what the majority really think...this can't be done with a 40% turn out! There are lots of places closer that you could have set up a poll maybe send out some scouts....Maybe even ask a local Realtor for free advice!	Oct. 5
11	Fewer than 500, Twitter	Twitter user	Yesterday I received my voter card addressed to my deadname. So I marched into the elections office and threw a fit about it. They let me vote early "for my troubles" 🖊️🖊️🖊️	Oct. 4
1	Fewer than 100, Twitter	Twitter user	Cette élection j'ai reçu la carte de l'ancien propriétaire de ma résidence. Le problème, il est mort depuis 15 ans et j'ai jamais reçu de carte à son nom lors des dernières élections. Je crois que Trudeau veut faire voter les morts 🤖🤖🤖	Oct. 5

➔ Concerns over vandalized, stolen and parody election signs

Articles les plus partagés; nombre de partages / Most-shared articles; number of shares

- Vandalisme : une candidate conservatrice porte plainte, TVA Nouvelles, October 5, 47 shares

Fait saillants sur les médias sociaux / Social media highlights

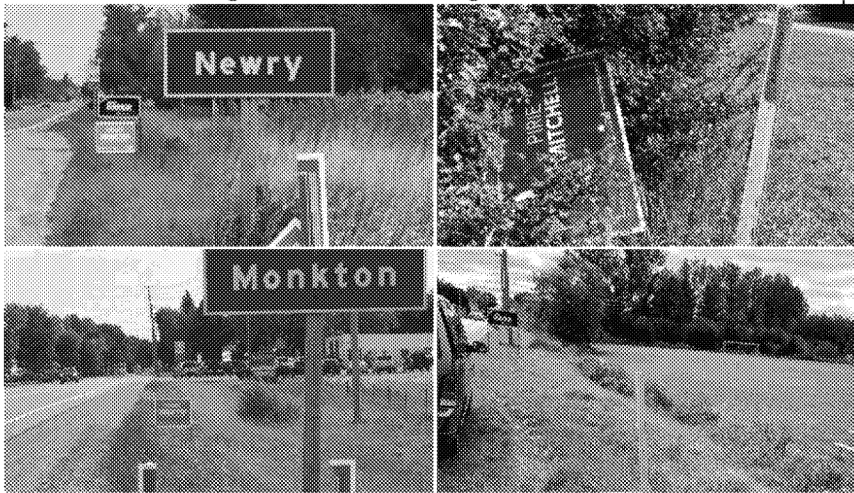

There were a number of posts about election signs over the weekend, with two high-engagement posts about satirical lawn signs, and two reports of signs defaced with swastikas. Blogger Mike Morrison tweeted three photos of satirical lawn signs that state “Don’t Elect Scheer” followed by the words “bullsh*t,” “nonsense” or “stupidity.” The bottom right-hand corners of the signs include the text “authorized by a sophisticated operation.” A sign featuring LPC leader Justin Trudeau with a cigarette or joint in his mouth and the text “stupid people vote Liberal” appeared in the GTA.

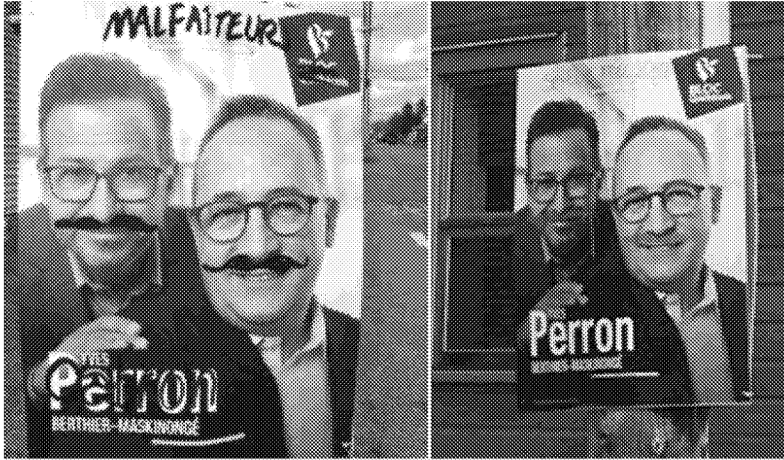

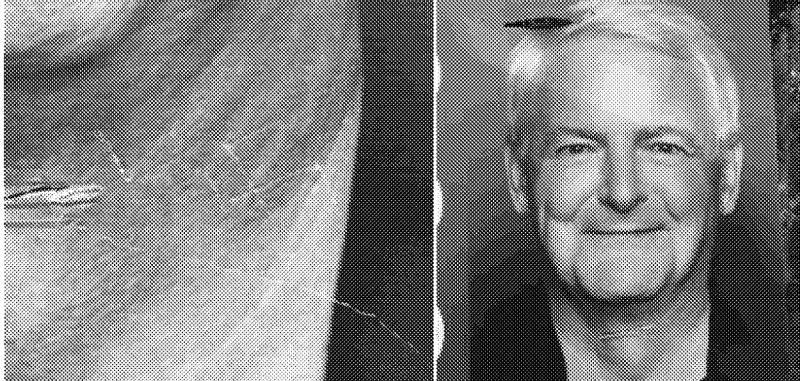

Election signs for both LPC candidate Marc Garneau (Notre-Dame-de-Grâce—Westmount) and CPC candidate Mariam Ishak (Pierrefonds—Dollard) were defaced with swastikas, leading users to say such activity was “disgusting” and “revolting.” On his official Facebook page, CPC candidate Scott Davidson commented on “vandalized” and “stolen” lawn signs in his riding of York—Simcoe and added that his campaign will “not be intimidated” by such actions.

Publications reliées au sujet / Related posts

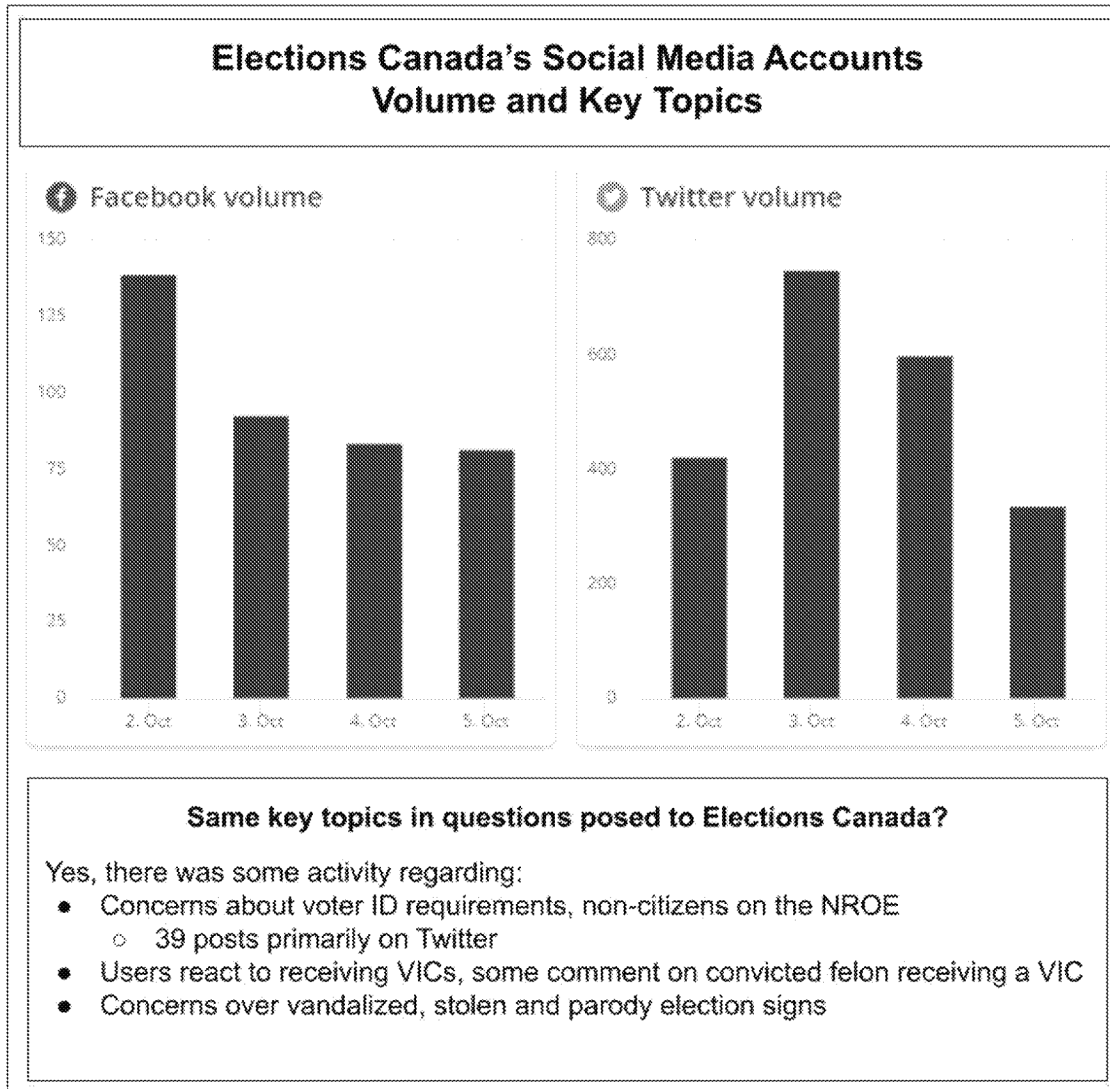

Engagement	Followers, platform	Account	Post	Date
2,505	37K, Twitter	Mike Morrison , blogger	Who's doing this!? 	Oct. 5

320	1.5K, Twitter	Scott Davidson , York-Simcoe CPC candidate	I have received increasing reports of vandalized or stolen lawn signs from my campaign that have been specifically targeted, as other candidate's signs have been left untouched in those areas. Every single lawn sign my team has installed across #YorkSimcoe has been placed on private property, at the request of the residents who want to show their support. We do not put signs on public property. We will not be intimidated, and we will keep up the hard work getting out our positive vision for York-Simcoe and for Canada. #OnYourSide 	Oct. 5
119	5.9K, Twitter	Twitter user	Lawn sign in the 905: All fair in politics or too much? #cdnpoli #Elexn43 	Oct. 5
25	1.2K, Twitter	Twitter user	I hate the #LPC A's much as the next person. But this is lame. Don't do this to any party's signs. #elxn43 	Oct. 6

7	500, Twitter	David Ainsworth , Renfrew–Nipissing–Pembroke PPC candidate	It happened in Renfrew County, ON as well. Swastikas were painted on signs that were placed by a member of our campaign team who happens to be Jewish. What we are up against is hateful people.	Oct. 4
5	Fewer than 500, Twitter	Twitter user	Apparently, some people can't tolerate the progressive change that Pirie Mitchell is bringing to Perth-Wellington. Many of Team Pirie's election signs are being illegally damaged, vandalized, or stolen! ½ Pirie's positive campaign is working, but this illegal tampering with the democratic process is concerning. It appears that Liberal signs are specifically targeted, leaving other parties' signs intact. In some areas, almost all Liberal signs have been damaged or removed! 2/2 	Oct. 5
4	N/A, Facebook	Facebook user	Vandalisme antisémite, contre une candidate conservatrice chrétienne orthodoxe...  Sample reply Facebook user 1 Révoltant.	Oct. 5

1	1.1K, Twitter	Pier-Olivier Gagnon, Journalist, L'Echo de Maskinonge	Des affiches électorales vandalisées à Saint-Élie-de-Caxton #EM #Mauricie #Polcan #Elections2019 #Elections #Ottawa #ElectionsCanada 	Oct. 4
0	Fewer than 500, Twitter	Twitter user	Stop vandalizing posters. The gash in @MarcGarneau throat is actually a death threat! This is completely disgusting on all sides! #ElectionsCanada #ElectionSecurity 	Oct. 5

Policy and Public Affairs Corporate Social Media Accounts: October 6, 2019

Ce rapport a été rédigé par l'Équipe de repérage sur les médias sociaux du Programme du Bureau d'intégrité électorale et vérification interne, Élections Canada

This report was produced by the Social Media Monitoring Unit of the Electoral Integrity and Internal Audit Program, Elections Canada